FOUR GREAT LECTURES

To be Delivered Next Week in Presbyterian Church.

Delos Edwin Finks of New York City will deliver his four great lectures on "Seeing Our Own Country" in the Presbyterian Church Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday evenings, March 2, 3, 4 and 6. These lectures have been given over 2500 times between the Atlantic and the Pacific. Each lecture is illustrated with a hundred superb views, which will be shown with the calcium dissolving lantern. The addresses are given at half-past seven each evening. No admission is to be charged, but a silver offering will be received.

This is an exceptional opportunity for Bedford to study the wonderful beauties of our own land, and this lecture course constitutes, practically, a Chautauqua in pictures. The public is invited to the series of lectures, and it is well to plan to attend the entire series. The general topics of the lectures are these: "California and the Yosemite;" "Strange People in the Great West;" "The Forgotten Folks of the Southland;" and "Alaska and its Gold." The order of delivery may be changed.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fluke

Seven children survive, as follows: William H. and Mrs. J. J. Wirsing, of Greensburg; Mrs. John Triplett of Kentucky, A. P. of Colorado, Hugh of Illinois, Mrs. W. B. Piper of Altoona and Mrs. George Smouse of Bedford. She also leaves 22 grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren.

The body was brought to the residence of her daughter on East Penn Street, where funeral services were held Tuesday morning, Revs. J. A. Eyer and E. F. Reimer officiating. Interment in the Bedford Cemetery. A good, Christian woman has gone to her reward.

Charles Miller

Charles Miller (colored) was born in Bedford Township December 20, 1827, and died in Everett February 17, 1910, aged 82 years, one month and 27 days. He served faithfully during the entire Civil War in the 22nd Penna. Infantry and was a member of the Everett Post, G. A. R.

He was twice married, first to Matilda Key who died December 25, 1893, and on April 12, 1894, he was united in marriage with Susan Carter who, with four children, survives him, namely: Mrs. Mary Onore of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Mattie Hicks of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Maggie Stewart and Richard Miller, both of Everett.

TEMPERANCE MEETINGS

Held Last Week Were a Success—
Good Entertainment.

"Rally Week," as observed by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union February 14 to 20, was a Red Letter week for temperance forces. Despite the inclement weather all meetings were well attended, which marks an increased sentiment in favor of the banishment of the saloon and the protection of the home.

The Frances E. Willard Memorial service on Tuesday was impressive and the Union made the usual offering for organization work. The Wednesday evening prayer service in the Methodist Church was of a temperance nature throughout and was heartily entered into by the pastor, Rev. F. W. Biddle, and W. C. T. U. members.

Much help was derived from the Workers' Conference held on Thursday afternoon; plans for first County W. C. T. U. Convention in May were suggested and an invitation was extended by the Bedford Union to make Bedford the meeting place for 1910. The union service in the Presbyterian Church Thursday evening was especially interesting. Excellent music was rendered by a union choir, and the addresses by Rev. M. L. Culler and Rev. F. W. Biddle, and the representation of "Woman's Work" by Mrs. William White were heard with interest and profit by all.

The Loyal Temperance Legion entertainment at Assembly Hall Friday evening was a fitting climax to the week-day meetings. The program was faultless in its rendition and was superior in its subject matter. The evening's gross receipts were $32.55, the Legion realizing $28.

Sermons preached by pastors on Sunday, as they deemed it wise, were of a temperance nature and completed the week's meetings as planned.

Biggest Egg Smash

With the price of eggs making them taste like silver, there seems to be a sort of fatality about the way they get smashed up after a long haul from Bedford County, as huckster after huckster overturns his sled inside the city limits.

The latest smash of the precious fruit occurred yesterday afternoon, and was the most disastrous yet recorded. Espey Carns had just reached the southern end of the city with his sled loaded with the high priced goods, and in attempting to turn out of the trolley track at Sixth Avenue and Twentieth Street his sled went over, and one hundred and fifty dozen of newly-laid eggs were converted into omelette.—Altoona Mirror, Tuesday.

Dr. R. L. Tryon of that place, and a committee of two Odd Fellows and two Red Men, accompanied Mr. Lewis as far as Huntingdon Saturday evening and the physician took him to the Altoona Hospital.

On Monday, February 14, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Turner, of Harrison Township, was saddened by the death of their son, Carl Emanuel, aged five years and 19 days. He was buried on Wednesday at Trinity Church graveyard, Rev. E. M. Adair conducting the services.

CASHIER CESSNA WEDS

Pretty Home Wedding Solemnized on Wednesday.

At 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the parlors of the National House Miss Margaret Ritchey became the bride of H. Bertram Cessna, the popular cashier of the First National Bank of this place, in the presence of about fifty guests.

The ring ceremony was used, Rev. J. A. Eyer officiating. The couple took their places beneath a white bell suspended from an evergreen arch while Mendelssohn's Wedding March was skillfully rendered by Miss Maude Cessna. During the ceremony the beautiful "Flower Song" was played. The bride wore a handsome gown of white lace over silk and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Her sister, Miss Rebecca Ritchey, acted as bridesmaid and was tastefully gowned in white net over yellow silk. The groom was attended by his brother, D. Clyde Cessna.

The groom is the eldest son of Ex-Treasurer S. A. Cessna of East John Street and has been the efficient cashier of the National Bank for some time. His bride is the eldest daughter of H. C. Ritchey and is well fitted for the duties of the life she has chosen. She received many beautiful gifts.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served by seven girl friends of the bride. Amid the congratulations of their friends the happy couple boarded the 4:40 p. m. train to spend a short time in Philadelphia and New York City. On their return they will occupy a flat in the Heckerman Building.

The Gazette extends best wishes for a prosperous and happy journey through life.

Wednesday afternoon, February 16, Charles L. Dallas of Bedford and Miss Lulu Marian Crissey of near Mann's Choice arrived on the afternoon train in Martinsburg and going to the Reformed parsonage were united in holy wedlock by Rev. C. W. Warlick, pastor of St. John's Reformed Church.

The bride is a member of the Reformed Church at Mann's Choice, having been confirmed during the pastorate of Rev. Warlick. Both the young people are well known in their respective communities. Mr. Dallas has been engaged in editorial work for some years past in Bedford, while the bride is the only daughter of Samuel Crissey of Napier Township. The young people have a host of friends who will unite in wishing them a long and happy life. They will make their home in Bedford after March 1.

Martinsburg, February 21, 1910.

King Case Settled

Through the intercession of Judge Reed, who regarded the legal questions involved in the issue as very close, a settlement was effected last Friday of the trespass suit brought by Mrs. Esther King of Baker's Summit against the Altoona and Logan Valley Electric Railway Company, and thereupon the trial was suddenly terminated. By agreement of the parties, the court directed the jury to render a verdict in favor of plaintiff for $1,000, which amount includes all damages recoverable by reason of the death of John S. King, as well as all damages sustained by the deaths of the horses and demolition of the huckster wagon.

During the Harris trial, when the jurors were submitted to the test of questions in such cases, all those who had gained knowledge of the murder through a Bedford paper mentioned The Gazette. This looks as though it gets around.

RAILROAD NEWS

Last Tuesday Big Day For East Freedom

WORK PROGRESSING

Gold Spike Used as Marker of Advent of New Road—Trains Will Run Shortly.

McKee Gap, February 19, 1910. The staid old town of East Freedom was awakened from her long nap on Tuesday by the appearance of the steam engine and a string of cars with about sixty men laying track on the bed of the old Midland Railroad, now the Bedford and Hollidaysburg Branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The event was looked forward to with interest because it started a new epoch in the history of the town. With this in view, Constable G. A. Hoenstine had the machinery ready to put into operation on short notice, and as the track was laid across Johnstown Street the genial constable appeared with a gold spike to nail the railroad fast to the town. About three hundred people, including the workmen, heard of the informal event and appeared on the scene.

The honor of driving the spike was accorded Andrew Ott, the oldest man of the town both in age and in number of years a resident. Mr. Ott has been identified with the interests of the town for a long time, being now 86 years of age, and for many years prominently identified with the Odd Fellows, the Mechanics and the Macabee lodges of East Freedom. Promptly at 12 o'clock the hammer in the steady hand of the striker struck the twelve measured strokes that sent the gold spike to the spot where it will do its silent duty as a marker of the advent of a new epoch in the history of the town it graces.

The hammer used was the same one used by the venerable Captain Shock of Claysburg in driving the gold spike presented by Dr. J. W. Johnson in honor of the entrance into that town of the same railroad. The hammer was made by Jacob Shock of King, a son of Captain Shock, and has been in use driving spikes the whole length of the railroad and will be kept as a relic of the days of building the old Midland.

After the spike driving H. C. Burger, who has been identified with the best interests of the town all his life, was ushered to the front and in his natural and forceful way delivered a stirring address to those assembled. He spoke of the town and its history, and the advent of the railroad into both, and the change it would bring to the quiet place, which he hoped would make the town more and more a place of business and the dwelling place of more people.

He paid a high compliment to the builders of the railroad, and the men they have employed, and who have made the town their home during the construction. There has not been a single act of lawlessness among the men since they came here and they have all to a man enjoyed their stay, and their presence has been appreciated by the people. Mr. Burger received loud applause at the close of his address.

Work is being pushed on the railroad as fast as the weather will permit and trains will shortly be running the whole length of the road.

The track is now laid from the Imbler end to the Dry Run bridge near here, and from Brooks' Mills intersection to Cove Run bridge. This leaves less than 3,600 feet yet to be constructed, which will be completed soon.

The cut through Barney Hill, the last heavy excavating on the road, is completed and the steam shovel moved to the "Narrows," above East Freedom, where a considerable amount of grading will have to be done before the road bed is complete. The Narrows grading will hardly be completed before March 15, although a temporary track now passes that point. The girders for the large bridge on Bedford Pike will be placed in position as soon as the steam shovel is moved.

A SAFEGUARD TO CHILDREN

"Our two children of six and eight years have been since infancy subject to colds and croup. About three years ago I started to use Foley's Honey and Tar, and it has never failed to prevent and cure these troubles. It is the only medicine I can get the children to take without a row." The above from W. C. Ornstein, Green Bay, Wis., duplicates the experience of thousands of other users of Foley's Honey and Tar. It cures coughs, colds and croup, and prevents bronchitis and pneumonia. Ed. D. Heckerman.

HUCKSTER INJURED

When Team Frightened and Ran Off at Altoona.

Adolph Claar of Cessna, a well-known huckster, who on Thursday had the misfortune to have his sled upset at Union and Eleventh Avenues and fifty dozen of eggs broken, was yesterday the victim of a more serious accident when his horses ran away at the corner of Eighth Avenue and Sixteenth Street, throwing the driver out and injuring him so badly that he is now at the Altoona hospital. The sled was demolished.

The horses scared on Eighth Avenue while the farmer was selling his produce from the covered sled and dashing up Sixteenth Street upset the sled at an alley. Claar was thrown out, dragged a short distance and when aid reached him was unconscious. The horses continued to Ninth Avenue and there lost the balance of the cargo out of the sled and dashed on to Margaret Avenue where they were finally captured.

The injured farmer was carefully picked up by willing hands and carried into a home nearby while a call was sent for the hospital ambulance. The motherly housewife did all that was possible for the man until the doctors came and their examination after he had been admitted to the hospital, showed a severe laceration over the right eye, contusions of the head and a bad sprain of the right ankle. His condition is not serious and last evening he was resting well.

—Altoona Tribune, February 19.

Mr. Claar left the hospital on Monday.

MICROBES IN THE SCALP

The Latest Explanation is that Microbes Cause Baldness.

Professor Unna of Hamburg, Germany, and Dr. Sabouraud of Paris, France, share the honor of having discovered the hair microbe.

Baldness is not caused through a few weeks' work of these hair microbes, but is the result of conditions brought about by their presence. Baldness may not occur until years after the microbes begin work, but it is certain to come sooner or later. The microbes cut-off the blood supply. They feed on the fatty matter about the roots of the hair, through which the blood is absorbed. Finally the fatty matter is consumed, the food supply of the hair is gone and it starves and finally dies.

Resorcin is one of the most effective germ destroyers ever discovered. Beta Naphthol is a most powerful, yet absolutely safe germicide and antiseptic, which prevents development of germ matter, and creates a clean, healthy condition.

Pilocarpine, although not a coloring matter or dye, is an ingredient well established for its power to restore natural color to human hair when loss of color has been caused by a disease.

Borax, because of its well-defined softening and cleansing properties, is most useful in the treatment of scalp and hair diseases. Glycerine acts as a stimulant to the hair bulbs, and has a soothing, healing and nourishing influence. Alcohol is indispensable in medicine because of its antiseptic, stimulating and preservative qualities.

We want every one who has scalp or hair trouble to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, which contains all these ingredients. If it does not give you complete satisfaction in every particular, we will return every penny you paid us for it for the mere asking and without question or formality.

Of course you understand that when we say that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair we do not refer to cases where the roots are entirely dead, and the pores of the scalp closed, and the head has the shiny appearance of a billiard ball. In cases like this there is no hope. In all other cases of baldness Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair, or cost the user nothing. Two sizes; 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Bedford only at our store.—The Rexall Store. F. W. Jordan.

Relieves Urinary and Kidney Troubles, Backache, Straining, Swelling, Etc.

Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Back.

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say goodbye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency?

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K 321 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has a great healing and pain-conquering power.

It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

STOMACH MISERY FOR OVER SIX YEARS

Think of it! After six years of sour stomach, of gas eruptions, of nervousness, during which time every meal lay on his stomach like a lump of lead, a man was restored to perfect health by Mi-o-na stomach tablets.

Read what Mr. Hoffman, landlord of the Webster Hotel, writes:

"I suffered misery and intense pains from stomach trouble for over six years, and all the doctoring that I did or medicines I used were of no avail until about two years ago, when I used a treatment of Mi-o-na. The first few days' treatment helped me greatly and upon using it a while I was made entirely free from any stomach trouble or complaint whatever. Since the cure by Mi-o-na I have regained my weight, I eat and sleep well, am never nervous, and my entire general health is much better."—Max M. Hoffman, Webster, N. Y., Aug. 2, 1909.

Mi-o-na relieves stomach distress in five minutes. It acts like magic. It is guaranteed to cure sour stomach, gas eruptions, heartburn, dizziness, biliousness and nervousness, or money back. For sale by druggists everywhere and by F. W. Jordan of 50 cents a large box.

"Had dyspepsia or indigestion for years. No appetite, and what I did eat distressed me terribly. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me."—J. H. Walker, Sunbury, Ohio.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat carefully treated.

Special attention given to Testing the Eyes and the Fitting of Glasses.

There are thousands of so-called "just as good" Emulsions, but they are not—they are simply imitations which are never as good as the original. They are like thin milk—SCOTT'S is thick like a heavy cream.

Point

February 16—A sled load of Schellsburg people paid the home of R. C. Smith a visit last Thursday evening. The following persons were present: Mrs. Dr. Ealy, Mrs. Harry Beaver, Mrs. H. N. Shoemaker, Mrs. C. B. Culp, Mrs. S. B. Whetstone, Mrs. Laura Long, Mrs. Minta Danaker, Misses Stella Colvin, Maud Beaver, Gene and Jessie Garlinger and Gene Culp, Mr. and Mrs. Manford Beckley, Edna and Walter Beckley, Rayford Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wonders, and Miss Evelyn and Daniel Wonders. All present report having a good time.

John and Bernard Feight, of Bedford, spent part of Saturday and Sunday with their grandfather and mother, and had quite a time getting home Sunday through the snow drifts.

The snow that fell on Friday drifted badly Saturday and Sunday night. Snow shovellers were out in force opening up the roads on Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Harry Musselman fell on Sunday and badly injured her hand. Mr. Musselman brought her down to R. C. Smith who deftly dressed the wound, and then telephoned for Dr. T. F. Ealy who was visiting a patient at Springhope to come out by Point and see Mrs. Musselman. When the doctor arrived he pronounced the work of Dr. Smith all right.

Two or three sled loads of our neighbors paid the family of George M. Smith a visit last night. Hope all had a pleasant time.

George Croyle of Osterburg and his crew last week moved the sawmill from the Harry Burns farm, lately purchased from Mr. Kline, to the southern end of the farm where Mr. Burns lives. We will soon hear the whistle calling the hands to work again.

Sample Bottle Often Proves Beneficial

Cressona, Pa., Sept. 8, 1909. Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Gentlemen—Some time ago I was afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble and was unable to obtain any relief from other medicines so sent for a sample bottle of your Swamp-Root. I received so much benefit from this small bottle that I purchased a large bottle of the drug. I continued the use of Swamp-Root until I regarded myself as cured and am now in very good health. I recommended it to a neighbor who has used it with the same results.

I regard your remedy Swamp-Root as a preparation that will do all you claim for it.

Mrs. Albert Sterner, Cressona, Pa.

Personally appeared before me this 15th of September, 1909, Mrs. Albert Sterner, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

WITH THE FLEET

Target Practice in Cuba—Game of Baseball.

U. S. S. Virginia, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, February 8, 1910.

Editor Gazette:—Perhaps some of the readers of The Gazette will be interested in the work of Uncle Sam's men connected with the Atlantic Fleet of our navy. The whole fleet, with the exception of the Virginia, Michigan and Louisiana, spent the holidays at New York City, leaving there shortly after for Guantanamo, Cuba, for the spring target practice. The other three ships had not at that time finished the repair work being done on them, but were to follow as soon as practicable.

The Virginia, on which I am stationed, left the navy yard at Portsmouth, Va., the 15th of January and went to sea, to test the engines which were repaired. After 24 hours' run it was found the port engine was a fraction of an inch out of the way and we went into Hampton Roads, where we lay at anchor while the necessary work was done to repair the machinery.

We left Hampton Roads on the 30th for Cuba, arriving in the bay at noon Thursday, the 3rd, after a rough trip, during which nearly all hands were seasick. On Friday we put 200 tons of coal on board and Saturday afternoon men of the Virginia and Wisconsin crossed bats on the baseball diamond. The score was 8 to 0 in favor of the Wisconsin, due to the fact that they had a month's practice before we arrived here.

The weather is perfect now and it is a pleasant change to come from the north in the middle of the winter to summer weather here. Our time will be taken up with drills of all description, both ashore and at sea, about which we will try to tell later. Hoping this will interest some one, I am, respectfully,

Vance L. Ealy, Corp. U. S. M. C.

Fyan

February 16—Miss Celia Weyant, after spending three weeks with friends at Berlin, returned home last Sunday.

James Zeigler is busily engaged taking pictures at present.

H. W. Deaner of Smoky Ridge spent Saturday evening as the guest of Albert Suder and family.

Ross Hillegass spent Saturday night and Sunday at Will Deaner's. A horse driven by George Deaner, Jr., while out sleighing a few days ago, had the misfortune to get badly sprained by tramping in a crevice in the ice.

Miss Effie Deaner of Smoky Ridge is spending some time here with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Deaner.

Richard Mowry is on the sick list. An old-fashioned quilting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Weyant Thursday, February 10, in honor of their daughter, Miss Emma's, 23d birthday. The following persons were present: Mrs. John Egolf and children, Mrs. John Bence, Mrs. Henry McKinney, Mrs. Jacob Mowry, Mrs. Peter Hillegass and son Blair, Mrs. Peter McCreary and two children, Mrs. Susan McCreary, Misses Zora and Carrie Hillegass, Cora, Gertrude and Mary Weyant, Rosy Bence, Effie Deaner, Annie Fisher and Myrtle Suder. A fine dinner was served to which all did ample justice.

A Popular Outdoor Monthly

The February Sports Afield—from its beautiful front cover to its last advertising page—is an exceptionally attractive issue. G. E. Whitmore describes how a Pennsylvania mountain trapper waged an unceasing war against a family of panthers, and how in the end, the last of the animals almost caused his death. Many hunting and fishing trips in New Mexico, Texas, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Indiana, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Washington, Vermont, Arkansas, Missouri and Michigan are truthfully described. Of more than usual interest are: The Men of '49, Pete's Red Letter Day, Camping and Fox Hunting, and the Mad Buck of Hickory Bend. # Does Not Color Hair

Ayer's Hair Vigor, as now made from our new improved formula, does not stain or color the hair even to the slightest degree. Gray hair, white hair, blonde hair is not made a shade darker. But it certainly does stop falling hair. No question about that.

Does not change the color of the hair.

Formula with each bottle. Show it to your doctor. Ask him about it, then do as he says.

Ayer's

Indeed, we believe it will stop every case of falling hair unless there is some very unusual complication, something greatly affecting the general health. Then you should consult your physician. Also ask him about the new Ayer's Hair Vigor.

The Servant Girl Disappearing

During the last thirty years, the demand for servants has doubled, while the supply has increased only by half—in the last decade only by five per cent. In 1870 there was one to every twelve; even in the recent crisis, when the cities were filled with unemployed, the demand still outran the supply. And yet, during the thirty years past, the number of self-supporting women—that is, the actual labor market—has more than trebled. Forty years ago a woman thrown upon her own resources would tend to select housework for a living; in fact, one woman in two did so select. Thirty years ago only every third woman entered domestic service. Ten years ago only one in four rapped at the kitchen door. The other three applied—where?

Every one knows: at the shop, the factory, the store.—From McClure's Magazine.

CASE AFTER CASE

Plenty More Like This in Bedford.

Scores of Bedford people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

W. H. Weyant, 243 W. Pitt Street, Bedford, Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are by no means a new remedy to me. I have used them off and on for a number of years and would not think of being without a supply on hand. I am obliged to be on my feet a great deal and this brought on attacks of backache and other symptoms of kidney complaint. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at John R. Dull's Drug Store, gave me prompt relief and consequently I do not hesitate to recommend them to other persons afflicted with kidney trouble." (Statement given October 14, 1907.)

Two Years Later

On November 13, 1909, Mr. Weyant said: "I have no reason to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I have previously expressed through the local papers. The relief this remedy brought me has been lasting and during the past year or so, I have been in good health. You may continue to use my name as one who knows of the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills from personal experience."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. Feb. 25-2t.

Miss O. E. Clark

Miss Orintha Elzora Clark died at the home of her father, Barton Clark, in West Providence Township on Monday, February 14, at the age of 23 years, nine months and 11 days.

The mother of deceased passed away about two years ago and she leaves her father and one sister to survive. She was a faithful member of the Christian Church.

Rev. Charles Rinehart conducted the funeral services which were held in Union Memorial Church on February 16.

Another Railroad

That the Western Maryland Railway will not stop with the extension of the road from Cumberland, Md., to New Haven, Pa., to a connection with the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad, is the confident expectation in well-informed circles. The next move of the company, it is said, will be in the direction of the Somerset coal fields of Pennsylvania, and a line to parallel the Somerset & Cambria branch of the Baltimore & Ohio system is said to be under consideration. Active construction on the Cumberland-New Haven branch—33 miles long—to build and equip which will cost $12,000,000, will begin within sixty days, and, once under way, it will be pushed with all possible haste.

"The Good Fellowship of a Good Watch"

There is something in the good fellowship of a good watch that is always felt by the owner. That is, in words, hard to define. Ask your friend, who has a good watch—a watch that keeps perfect time—how much he will take for it and he will laugh at you. It is because there is that attachment to it—that knowledge of its faithfulness—that places it above its actual intrinsic value. These are the kind of watches we sell, and only these kind that you become attached to. From $10 up for gold filled watches.

Bedford Gazette

ESTABLISHED IN 1805

S. A. VAN ORMER,
Editor and Publisher.

The Bedford Gazette is a model among country newspapers.—New York World.

The Gazette is the leading newspaper of Bedford County and its circulation is far ahead of any of its contemporaries. As an advertising medium it is one of the best in this part of the state.

Regular subscription price per year $1.50, payable in advance.

Cards of Thanks, 50c. Resolutions, $1.00.

All communications should be addressed to

Gazette Publishing Co.,
Bedford, Pa.

FRIDAY MORNING, FEB. 25, 1910.

ONE MORE ADDED TO LIST

Another death has been added to the list of prominent persons connected with the "capitol scandal," this time John E. Stott of Coatesville, who was found dead in his boarding house last Wednesday.

Mr. Stott was secretary of the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings during the furnishing of the capitol and knew the details of all its transactions. As a witness in the trials his memory was very deficient concerning important points, which seems to have been the case with the majority of the witnesses.

ACCEPTED, CONDITIONALLY

The very elaborate challenge of the Inquirer last week, putting to test the counter claims as to circulation, is accepted conditionally.

Our claim has been and is now that The Gazette has the largest bona fide circulation of the papers of the county. To demonstrate the truth of this assertion we are willing to submit to such a committee as proposed by the Inquirer our mailing list, properly certified to by the editor and proprietor, it being understood that the list furnished the said committee by our contemporary shall be certified to by the President and highest official of that company, Mr. S. A. Cessna.

We regret that conditions and knowledge necessitate our insisting upon requiring the President's affidavit, which shall specifically state that the names of all subscribers who have not paid the full published price—$1.50—be stricken from their list, as they will be from ours. The Gazette is $1.50 to everybody.

NOT GUILTY

On Tuesday the Press office was frequently called up and inquiry made about some mistake on the ballot. We kindly informed all inquirers that the printing of the ballot was not done at this place else it would have been just right.

J. Rush Nycum of Ray's Hill informed us that he was highest man at the primary election for School Director, but his name did not appear on the ballot. Out in Monroe, Silas Fletcher was a candidate for Supervisor; the ticket read "Charles" Fletcher. The name had nothing to do with "She's" running as he is "some punkins" all the time and won anyway.

Errors were found in ballots of other districts but we plead "not guilty" as to the printing.—Everett Press.

The ballots referred to were printed by the BEDFORD INQUIRER and every last one was illegal in that they did not have the names of the districts printed on the back, as the law requires.

Special Interest to Farmers

The most destructive forces of nature that we have to deal with are thunder and lightning. According to statistics at hand the frequency of lightning strikes varies somewhat with the character of the land, the nature of the roofing material used, the absence of the old-time forests, and use of the buildings, all of which influence the liability of a strike and fire. As shown by statistics, it may be truly asserted that the risk in the country is five times greater than in the city.

There is but one method known to science whereby we may guard against loss from this destructive element, that is to provide a path over which the condensed electricity of a cloud may find its way into the earth without injury to life or property. Such a path may be termed a lightning conductor and which may be constructed of iron, steel, copper and like metals of sufficient size and surface to safely carry off the average bolt of lightning. If the conductors are of metal and have sharp points they give off "brushes" of electricity which neutralize the stress above them and prevent a lightning stroke.

The function of a lightning conductor is two-fold: first, that of conducting the charge to the earth; second, the prevention of a disruptive discharge by silent neutralization of the cloud electrification. All barns and exposed buildings should be protected by lightning conductors.

Mrs. Souser's Funeral

The funeral of Mrs. Henderson Souser, whose death was reported in The Gazette last week, took place at her late home at Napier February 18 at 10:30 a. m., and was attended by one of the largest gatherings of relatives and friends that has been seen in the community at any funeral in many years.

The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Culler of Bedford, assisted by Rev. Holliday of Ellerslie, Md. Dr. Culler read Psalms 130 and 23, and took for his text John 11, 26; from which he delivered a very instructive, pathetic and sympathetic sermon. He was also assisted by members of the choir of the Lutheran Church of Bedford, of which he is pastor and of which the deceased was a member.

Mrs. Souser was a model mother, a noble and devoted wife and a type of womanhood which others might well emulate. No sacrifice for the welfare and happiness of her husband and children, and for the comfort of those around her was too great for her to make. Her life was given largely to making her home cheerful and her friends happy, and under any and all circumstances she was always helpful to those in need and it may be well said of her—

"None knew her but to love her, None named her but to praise."

An unusual, sad, but beautiful feature of the funeral services was the fact that Mrs. Souser's six sons, whom the loving hands, tender heart, steadfast watchfulness and unselfish devotion of this loving wife and mother helped to raise to successful manhood, were her pall bearers, and it may be said of her sons, as well as of her husband and her daughters, that they all appreciate the many sacrifices she made and mourn deeply the loss of such a dear one.

A Friend.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Patrons of Rural "Free" Delivery Service Are Dissatisfied.

By action of the Post Office Department the word free has been stricken out of the rural delivery service. It never was free, and the farmers don't ask nor expect any free service. All good things have a value and cost something, and the farmers bear their full share of all the expenses of the government, and expect an equal share of its benefits.

The Rural Delivery mail service is one of the greatest benefits which has come to the farmer, as it now reaches 20,000,000 rural people every day. The service is a benefit if properly laid out and it is to be lamented that this is not the case in many places. It could be much improved by honest readjustment.

The unfortunate part of the matter is that many of those who have the service stand by the Congressman for his influence in obtaining the service for them, and those who do not have it allow themselves to be patted on the back and told of their fine farms and promised that if re-elected he will make readjustments and have the mail dropped at the door. All for political gain for the candidate.

The election comes around and the farmer's honest promise is carried out, the Congressman elected—but what about the rural service? When asked to fulfill his promise he says: "Wait a little, it is too soon after election—it won't do yet." So the patient farmer holds his peace for a few months, then reminds the Congressman again, when he gets something like this for an answer: "Yes, now something will soon be done; I am at your service and will do all I can for your people." All right! The farmer goes home and tells his family and most confidential friends, "Something is doing." When, after some time the farmer and his friends think something ought to be on the way, he goes to hear what progress is made he is told to lay out a route and get the signatures of all patrons who will be benefited and "We will soon have it in operation." The farmer and his friends go home in good cheer, do what they were requested, send the draft and much-signed petition to the Congressman, and then wait, hopefully, several months.

When they go to see what progress is made—then what? "Yes, your application and petition, together with a recommendation from me, are on file in the Department, but we must let this matter lie a little as I am going to be a candidate for re-election and it would be used against me." So the farmers go home again and help to bring about the election of Mr. Congressman again.

In due time the honest farmer constituents again go to him, when the fault is put upon the opposite parties. The farmers return to their homes and finally find out the true state of affairs. They find that Mr. Congressman has some postmasters that must be cared for and he must have routes laid out to suit them. The farmers must again stand back. Finally they again go to see him and now, after establishment is made to suit him and his postmaster friends, he tells the farmer that no rural route can start out on a star route. Here, after the farmer has followed him through these unredeemed promises, he tries to put the fault on the Department, but these same farmers happen to know that very few rural routes can be established without coming in touch at some places with star routes. The farmers know where the trouble is and they now have made up their minds to kick, and if promises made are not carried out they will kick hard.

If this article does not reach the waste basket and comes before the public, some of whom know every word to be true, we can write another article of a more personal nature, and if a second dose must be given it will be worse than the first. We just want to say, in conclusion, that there are some sections in the County of Bedford where the rural delivery route covers four miles of star routes, and many rural delivery routes overlap and travel the same roads, while under a readjustment more people can be served. We think rural service is intended to benefit the rural people and not the postmaster and other officials.

"Have you made it amorous for the little girl?"

"Judge for yourself. Of course I tried to write in your vein as well as I could, so that there would be no doubt to the authorship."

Sylvester read the lines:

Oh, Guenevere, how sweet my dear!
My spirit soars in dreams denied.
Words beyond worlds with thee, my bride—

"I don't like that much," he announced when he had finished. "Bride! Is it necessary to put that in writing? Besides, it doesn't sound as if I wrote it. Now, does it. Powwow, old chap? Fess up."

"I hope it doesn't sound as if I wrote it."

"I thought you'd see it. Now, change that and it's a knockout drop. Can't you change it now? And I'll send it to the little girl tonight on a bed of orchids. Make it something beginning with 'ruby lips—you know the sort of guff—and then here and there 'eyes like night, full of delight,' something on that order."

Powell sat and wrote for a few minutes. "Here," he finally said. Sylvester glanced over the shoulder of the rising young genius, who read aloud these inspiring words:

So bright and beaming are thine eyes
The very stars twinkle in surprise.
Thy hair so like the dusky night,
Thy kiss so vibrant with delight,
I thrill unto my finger tips.
Oh, ruby, ruby—rougey lips!

Powell literally writhed in agony as he listened to the doggerel.

"It's great!" cried Sylvester ecstatically. "And now come get your tea. Gee, I'd like to take a crack at being a poet!"

The two conspirators hurried into the dining room as Wheeler Brand and the owner of the Advance came into the drawing room.

"You're right, Wheeler; you're right," Nolan was saying. "This is a better showing than I hoped for. Look in your stocking next Christmas. There'll be something for you. When I got into the newspaper business, Brand, they told me it was the beginning of my finish, that it sucked ten fortunes down for every one it built and no middle aged man ever went into it and came out again without teeth marks all over him. But look at that." He held up a typewritten statement. "I'm richer for going in—twice as much advertising as last year at this time."

Nolan seated himself on a settee.

"The big advertisers never pull their ads. so long as they are getting returns from them," put in Brand.

"Look at Dupuy. Remember how he threatened us and now his clients took their ads. out for two months?"

"Yes, but they put them back again."

"Why? Because they need us more than we need them," Brand laughed.

"Well, he's got something else up his sleeve now," remarked Nolan. "He telephoned that he would come to see me this afternoon."

"Are you going to see him?" Brand asked curiously.

"I thought I might as well. He'll be here. Maybe he wants to fire you again." The newspaper owner looked up at Brand and laughed heartily.

Mrs. Nolan and Phyllis re-entered the drawing room, and Brand became the especial object of their attentions.

The mother desired to have him print the list of her invited guests who had never attended the reception. Phyllis requested him to print a story about the violinist and was vastly annoyed when Brand informed her that the subject was a matter for the musical editor to attend to.

"And there's something else, Mr. Brand." A look of despair came into Brand's face. "Phyllis went to Miss Bartelmy's musicale the other day, and you didn't even include her name among those present," the mother said.

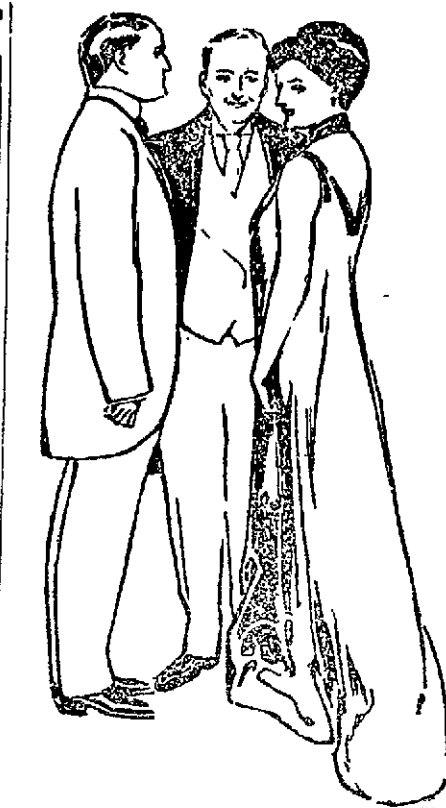

"Why, I'm sorry. That was an oversight, I assure you. I suppose they made up the usual list in the office."

"I hope it won't happen again," remarked Phyllis indignantly.

"Yes, and the way it's handling this Loris divorce case is all wrong," snapped Mrs. Nolan. "I know Mrs. Loris. She is no better than she should be, and people who live in icehouses shouldn't throw hot water."

"We have no policy in the Loris

Constitution causes headache, nausea, dizziness, languor, heart palpitation. Drastic physics gripe, sicken, weaken the bowels and don't cure. Doan's Regulets act gently and cure constipation. 25 cents. Ask your druggist.

"People who live in icehouses shouldn't throw hot water."

case," remarked Brand in defense. "We merely print the facts."

"Facts!" Mrs. Nolan cried. "That paper upsets me for the whole day every morning."

"There now, mother; I guess the paper's all right," ventured Nolan soothingly.

"You've got another guess, Michael. Nobody reads it but shopgirls, who spend a penny for the Advance and another for a stick of gum and hang on to a strap with one hand and the Advance with the other while they're wagging their jaws all the way down to work. That's all that reads it!"

She paused for breath, then went on, "And I must say I think it's scandalous the way you attack Judge Bartelmy every little while."

"Yes," contributed Phyllis, "and his daughter's one of the most exclusive and sought after girls in New York. She's the only one of her set who has been at all nice to me. Isn't that so, mamma?"

"Yes, and why the paper should go for her father just as it does for every other prominent man in town I can't see. She must think it's very funny that such things should appear in the Advance after what she's done for us."

"Oh," suggested Brand, thinking to soothe his employer's wife, "she probably knows that you have absolutely nothing to do with the policy of the Advance!"

"Is that so?" ejaculated Mrs. Nolan indignantly. "They certainly are very kind hearted people to act the way they do in the face of that paper."

"Judge Bartelmy is first and last a politician," explained Brand.

Michael Nolan bent forward intently. The conversation had now reached a point where he realized an issue of vital importance to himself and to the Advance had been touched on.

"Well, I suppose he has been meddling up to us a little," he began, then paused.

Brand drew a deep breath, stood up erect in the middle of the drawing room and daringly explained the situation to the owner of the paper.

"Bartelmy handles people better than any man in town," he declared. "He has studied the Advance, dissected its position and—I will be frank with you—discovered its weaknesses. He knows he can't reach you through your cupidity or political ambition because you lack those qualities. He now realizes that his only hope of influencing us lies in an appeal to"—He hesitated.

"Well?" asked Mrs. Nolan ominously. Brand found the courage to complete the sentence.

"His only hope lies in an appeal—to your family's social desires"—Phyllis rose from her seat, her cheeks red with anger—"and that's the only reason he has for taking you up."

Mrs. Nolan gave a scream of wrath. Nolan himself, regretting that the unpleasant scene had occurred, rose from the settee and advanced to calm the ruffled waters, but his face was clouded. Its serious expression indicated that he was deeply concerned over the frank statements of his managing editor, and one could instinctively feel that he was convinced that Brand had spoken the truth.

CHAPTER VI.

NOLAN faced Brand.

"Come, come, Wheeler," he said. "Let's drop the subject now."

"Mr. Brand, you are forgetting your place," contributed Phyllis.

"Michael," insisted Mrs. Nolan, "are you going to let this young man ruin the whole of us? I, for one, am glad Judge Bartelmy has taken us up, and if it wasn't for the way Mr. Brand runs wild with that paper"—her voice broke—"others might." She crossed to the door at the left. "Here we've squandered money right and left and nobody would have anything to do with us. I declare I was happier poor. At least when I asked anybody to eat then they came. Look at that table in there"—she pointed—"groaning with good things to eat, and there's $100 for hothouse grapes, and nobody's touched 'em!" She picked up a bunch of grapes from a stand and began to eat them.

"Mother," laughed the husband good naturedly, "I've seen you get away with three bunches all by yourself."

"Well, I felt it was my duty not to let them go to waste." She burst into tears. "Come on, Phyllis," she managed to say, and the heartbroken mother and daughter went from the room.

"You mustn't mind what mother says," Nolan said to Brand. "She's been kind of lonely since she came back to New York."

The editor's heart swelled with sympathy for the woman whose ambitions for herself and her daughter had caused the bitterest pain that injured pride can give. He saw that it would be difficult for her to learn that social position in a big city can be won only by skillful maneuvering, the ability to do which Mrs. Nolan apparently did not possess.

"Oh, I understand!" he answered feelingly.

Brand and Nolan went into the library to smoke. Hardly had they disappeared when Pitcher entered the drawing room as an escort for Judge Bartelmy and his daughter Judith. Brand had not erred a few minutes previous when in the same room he had pronounced the judge to be the best "handler of people" in the city.

The conversation which ensued between the jurist and his daughter as they awaited their hostess well illustrated his reasons for accepting, with his daughter, Mrs. Nolan's invitation. When Pitcher had gone in search of Mrs. Nolan it was the girl who first spoke.

"Father," she said, "I want you to know that I've been to five teas this afternoon. I'm doing you a great favor to come to this one."

"Yes, my dear; I appreciate it, but social duties!"

The girl laughed shortly.

"Now, this doesn't come under the head of social duties."

"Oh, yes," the judge answered quickly. "If you view society in its broader sense. Beyond your little world is a larger one where caste is of small consequence and where all men should be of service to each other."

"But the Nolans—they certainly haven't been of service to you?" questioned the girl.

He glanced sharply at Judith.

"But I wish them to be, and we're getting on—we're getting on."

"Their paper keeps going for you just as much as ever, father. I don't suppose one ought to mind it, but I do."

"Judith, Nolans have lived in every age in every country," pronounced the jurist. "He's a composite of an anarchist and autocrat. Eventually the autocrat in him will triumph. Just now he's bounding old institutions. I, for instance, represent to him the judiciary, and he attacks me. No consequence whatever, but I'm here in defense of the United States bench. My cause is the cause of my colleagues. I tell you, Judith, I know the breed. I know how to get the venom out of his fangs. Diplomacy, my dear—diplomacy!"

Judith became enthusiastic.

"Father, I believe you would have been a great prime minister in the old days!"

The judge straightened up, smiling pleasantly at his daughter's complimentary estimate of him. "Hardly that, hardly that," he protested. He became reflective. "They were feeble old men, for a thousand years courteously moving kings and their armies like pawns on a chessboard. They were always very tactful, Judith, those princes of the past."

"Oh," she admitted, "you never fail to illustrate your point, whatever it is!"

"Just imagine," said her father, "what one of those old fellows would do in this case."

"Yes, I suppose you're right, and in the end you'll make these people see how wrong they've been about you."

"Oh, yes!" he went on confidently.

"As they become accustomed to their prosperity you will find that the demagogism of their paper will be modified and ultimately vanish." He seated himself near his daughter.

"That would be a terrible blow for Wheeler, wouldn't it?" she suddenly asked.

"Wheeler? Oh, Wheeler! He's an entirely different type—the idealist, the fanatical idealist. I'm sorry. I always liked the boy. His heart's all right, but his head's all wrong, and I hope he's merely passing through a phase."

"I don't think you quite understand Wheeler, father," responded Judith, rising.

He took hold of the girl's hands.

"Oh, yes, I do! Just now he has lost himself in a labyrinth, and it will take an Ariadne to lead him out. I believe the right woman might bring him to reason." He paused significantly. Judith lowered her eyes from his. "I forgive him any annoyance he may have caused me, and I hope you will forgive him too. I want you and Wheeler to be friends again and, like the princess in the fairy stories, live happily ever after." He patted her fondly on the shoulder.

Mrs. Nolan entered the room and, aglow with excitement, greeted her guests.

"Judge Bartelmy, I hope you haven't been waiting long?" she inquired anxiously.

"Not at all."

"It is so good of you to come."

"Oh, I wouldn't permit anything to keep me away!" he replied. "I've just had the pleasure of adjourning a rather important conference to be here."

This confession filled the fluttering heart of Mrs. Nolan with pure ecstasy. She could barely contain herself as she in turn greeted Judith Bartelmy.

Pitcher announced another name that appeared in the social register.

"Mr. Dupuy," he announced. He had come to keep his appointment with Nolan.

"How do you do, Mr. Dupuy?" greeted the hostess, shaking hands warmly with him. "Here's Judge Bartelmy. He's just adjourned a most important conference to come to our tea. Pitcher, tell Mr. Nolan the judge and Mr. Dupuy are waiting. Say the judge has just adjourned his court to come. Miss Bartelmy, Phyllis will be so delighted to see you." She grasped Judith's arm and led her to a door, speaking rapidly as she did so. "Phyllis wants to show you her new gown Quinlan brought over from Paris. Very smart effect, but $450, and you could hold it in the palm of your two hands—a rag!"

"An amusing character, our hostess," commented Bartelmy dryly to Dupuy.

"Yes; she seems very appreciative of your daughter's visit."

"Well," decisively, "she certainly ought to be."

"I suppose we shall see it in the Advance tomorrow," suggested Dupuy.

"Oh, of course!" Bartelmy laughed amusedly.

"By the way," remarked Dupuy, "did you see the evening papers?"

A serious look came into Bartelmy's face as he said:

"I glanced over them on my way up-town, and their accounts of my decision this morning are not at all objectionable."

"No blood drawn," said Dupuy reassuringly. "A little surprising, too, for the Lansing Iron people have been in pretty bad odor with the public ever since the receivership matter last year."

"That was the beginning of all these attacks upon me. I hope the morning papers will treat me fairly."

"Oh, there will be no trouble about them. They have not investigated the matter thoroughly enough yet, of course, excepting the Advance. But you did just the right thing today to bring Miss Judith."

Bartelmy was showing not the slightest hesitancy at using his beautiful and accomplished daughter as a decoy in his plottings. In the first place, he desired that she should marry Wheeler Brand, hoping that the young reformer's zeal against him would disappear; secondly, by prevailing on her to pay attention socially to the Nolan family he was confident father nothing beyond what he himself had taught her to believe—that they were the efforts of envious men or ignorant reformers or misguided fanatics, who assailed him entirely without just cause. However, it would seem that the judge would in any event have attempted to conceal from others his motives for procuring the presence of Judith at the Nolan home on this day. It would seem, no matter how low he had sunk, that he would have denied that he had ever employed her unsuspectingly as a decoy on other occasions. That was the least this father could do for his daughter. But he made no attempt to protect her reputation, at any rate to Dupuy, for in answer to the lawyer lobbyist's remark that he had done "just the right thing to bring Miss Judith today" he replied with his characteristic coolness:

"Oh, in matters of this kind my daughter is of the greatest help to me." After a moment he continued, "I don't at all like your idea, Dupuy, of my proposing this man Nolan at the club."

"That's our trump card," insisted the other. "Every man has his price—even this young Brand if we could only find out what it is."

CHAPTER VII.

BRAND and Nolan came out of the library after their smoke and were surprised to find Judge Bartelmy and Dupuy in the drawing room. Brand did not appear enthusiastic at the circumstance and, nodding stiffly in the general direction of the two men, proceeded to circle around them toward the door leading to the hall.

Judge Bartelmy advanced pleasantly toward the newspaper owner, who greeted him courteously.

"Judge, this is an unexpected honor."

"An honor to come—believe me, Mr. Nolan, an honor to come."

Nolan saw Brand's devious maneuver toward the door, and on calling to him not to go he halted, turned toward the center of the room and stood watching the strangely assorted group of men.

Nolan next addressed Dupuy, who expressed his thanks at the granting of his request for an interview.

Judge Bartelmy, always quick to notice every detail or phase of what was transpiring in his immediate presence, saw that Brand was ill at ease. He called to him cheerily:

"My daughter and I were just speaking of you, Wheeler. The reformer sails a treacherous sea."

"The port is in sight, Judge Bartelmy," was the calm answer.

Bartelmy would have made a success on the stage. In fact, he had been acting a part most of his life and proved the truth of Richard Mansfield's aphorism that "the best actors are never seen on the stage." At Wheeler Brand's significant reply, which smote as ominously on the ears of the judge as it did on those of Dupuy, the jurist gave an inward shiver quite imperceptible to the eye and replied in the most jovial of manners:

"So? So? That's good. That's worth while. Stick to the helm, my boy," he laughed.

"Brand ain't at sea, judge," put in Nolan good naturedly. "He's in the

that the owner of the Advance would capitulate and become his friend. As for Judith, she little comprehended the entire significance of her father's attitude, and if she had, her frank, genuine nature, which revolted at trickery and deceit, would not have permitted her to continue to do his bidding. She admired and loved her father.

She knew that her mother before her had aided her father in his work and ambitions to a considerable extent, and now that her mother was no longer alive she felt it her duty to fill her place in every possible way. After all, she had only a young woman's knowledge of the ways of men in the business and professional world, and she could discern in the attacks on her clouds. The... makes your nose bleed; put, by the Eternal, you see all that's going on down here."

There was much "going on down here" that Bartelmy by all means preferred to have remain unseen, yet he managed to reply, with an attempt at smugness:

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson IX.—First Quarter, For Feb. 27, 1910.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. vii. 13-25. Memory Verses, 13, 14—Golden Text, Matt. vii. 21—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Life eternal is the gift of God in Christ Jesus and can be obtained only as a free gift wholly apart from any works or merit of ours. But He came to give us not merely life, but life abundantly (Rom. vi. 23; John x. 10). All who have eternal life shall enter the kingdom, but there may be an abundant entrance into the kingdom (John iii. 8, 9; 1 Pet. i. 10, 11). There may be a saved soul and a lost life, a saved soul and no service to be rewarded, no crowns to cast at His feet, but such is not His desire for His redeemed (1 Cor. iii. 11-15; 1 John 8; Rev. iv. 10). Concerning life as the gift of God, Jesus Christ Himself is the way, and the only way, for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved (John xiv. 6; Acts iv. 12). While any one who will may enter through this strait gate upon this narrow way, comparatively few find it because few are willing to acknowledge themselves lost and deserving of hell and, pleading guilty, put all their trust in the precious blood of Christ.

The gate is entirely too strait for any who insist upon bringing with them a single shred of their own righteousness, and the way is too narrow to permit any but the Lord Himself and those who are wholly His to walk with us in it. Let us, however, praise God for the words "Him that cometh" and "whosoever will." In Luke xiii. 24, 25, we read that a time will come when many will seek to enter in and shall not be able, but that time is not yet, for the door is still open and the Lord waits to be gracious. He has not yet risen up to shut the door. The false prophets are abounding more than ever in these days, concerning whom the Lord said long ago, "I have not sent these prophets, yet they ran; I have not spoken to them, yet they prophesied." "They are prophets of the deceit of their own heart" (Jer. xxiii. 21, 26). Those who deny the supernatural birth of Christ or His deity or His suffering in the sinner's stead or His literal resurrection from the dead are not bearing messages from God, but from the great adversary. Yet multitudes are willingly deceived by the god of this world, who is in so many ways blinding the minds of them who believe not.

Many of those who deceive and are being deceived seem to bear a form of good fruit, but that cannot be good fruit in the sight of God which does not proceed from the True Vine. The Lord Jesus said that false Christs and false prophets should arise who would show great signs and wonders, and, if possible, deceive the very elect (Matt. xxiv. 24). The Spirit through Paul said that Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light (II Cor. xi. 14).

While it is true that God gives eternal life as a free gift to all who truly believe, apart from any works of ours, as the Spirit teaches everywhere, yet it is equally true that no mere word of mouth which is not born of the heart amounts to anything, and where there is a living faith, a faith that saves, there will be a life corresponding. "Not every one that saith, but he that doeth." The light must shine, the works must be manifest, according to Eph. ii. 10; Tit. iii. 8. But these works must be wrought by God through us; otherwise, however good they may seem to men, they will not stand. According to verse 22, there may be teaching and casting out demons and many wonderful works, but all disowned of God. Note carefully this teacher who says, "Many will say to me in that day; * * * then will I profess to them: I never knew you; depart from me, ye that work iniquity." He is the same King who will say to some, "Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels" (xxv. 41). He is the appointed judge of all mankind, to whom every one shall give account, either at His judgment seat for believers or at the great white throne a thousand years later. Jesus is God, the only Saviour of sinners, the Great Head of the church, the Messiah of Israel, the King of kings and Lord of lords, the only one with whom we have to do, and with us it is a question of life or death.

Shall we hear His word and believe it and receive Him and live, or shall we turn our backs upon Him and His word and make lies our refuge and perish? His word is truth; He is the truth and the only foundation. All else is a lie and from the adversary, but His wrath shall sweep away the refuge of lies (Isa. xxviii. 16, 17). We are either in the ark and safe from the coming storm or outside and under the wrath of God. We do not wonder that the people recognized an unusual power in His words, for in Him was fulfilled the prophecy, "I will put My words in His mouth, and He shall speak them unto all that I shall command Him" (Deut. xviii. 18). If we are His faithful messengers and will speak only His message we can count upon His honoring His own word, even as He assured Jeremiah (Jer. i. 7-9) and the apostles (Matt. x. 20, 40) and manifested it in Stephen and the others (Acts ii. 41; vi. 10; x. 44; xiv. 1).

Pimples, Blackheads, Eczema, Etc. QUICKLY CURED.

"It is astonishing," remarked a well known authority on Diseases of the skin, "how such a large number of people, especially ladies, are, by attractively written advertisements, induced to purchase some one of the many so-called Beauty Creams now on the market, not knowing, of course, that they mostly contain oily or greasy substances that clog the pores of the skin and are, for that reason, the very worst thing that they could possibly use. My treatment of Pimples, Blackheads, Blisters and all eruptions of the skin, is as follows, and has invariably proved very successful: Wash the face carefully every night before retiring with warm water and a little oat meal tied up in a small cloth bag, then, after drying well, use the following inexpensive and perfectly harmless prescription, which can be filled at any Drug Store: Clearola 1/2 oz., Ether 1 oz., Alcohol 7 ounces. Use this mixture on the face as often as possible during the day, but use night and morning anyway, allowing it to remain on the face at least ten minutes, then the powdery film may be wiped off. Do not wash the face for some little time after using. By following this simple treatment, you will soon have a clear, brilliant complexion."

Is Cheap as yet it gives the steadiest, most uniform artificial Light known.

The Broad Top Educational Association held their fifth session in the Coaldale Borough school building on Saturday, February 19, at 2 p. m., at which time the following program was rendered:

Singing by the Institute. Miscellaneous business. Vocal duet, Misses Edith and Olive Cypher, which was encored. Discussion: “Knowledge Most Useful to the Child,” D. P. Hoover; discussion in general by others present. Chorus: “We Are Building,” North Point Primary School. Discussion: “Tests and Reviews,” Misses Schnebley and Smith. Vocal solo, B. G. Poor. Discussion: “Hygiene of the School,” J. C. McGahey after which the Broad Top Male Quartet rendered several selections.

There were 22 members of the Association and three visiting teachers present. The discussions, while not long, were interesting and to the point, thus showing care in preparation. The singing by the little ones was very much appreciated.
